Graduate School of Science and Engineering Special Entrance Examination for Recommended International Students for 2023 Admission

1. Purpose of the Graduate School of Science and Engineering Special Entrance Examination for Recommended International Students

To open the doors to students from overseas, the Kansai University Graduate School of Science and Engineering offers a special entrance examination for students of its overseas partner universities. Refer to the following overview of the Graduate School when applying for admission.

2. Overview of the Graduate School of Science and Engineering

(1) About Kansai University and the Graduate School of Science and Engineering

Kansai University is more than 130 years old since the Kansai Law School, its predecessor, was founded. Its history as a university began in 1922, and as of 2022, the institution becomes one of the leading universities in the west of Japan with more than 30,000 undergraduate and graduate students studying in 13 faculties, 13 graduate schools, and 2 professional graduate schools.

The Faculty of Engineering was established in 1958, and the Graduate School of Engineering opened 4 years later. The Graduate School has trained numerous engineers and researchers, and its graduates are active in a broad range of fields in Japan and overseas countries. In 2007, the Faculty of Engineering was reorganized into the Faculty of Engineering Science, the Faculty of Environmental and Urban Engineering, and the Faculty of Chemistry, Materials and Bioengineering. As a result the Graduate School of Engineering became the Graduate School of Science and Engineering in 2009.

The Graduate School of Science and Engineering is dedicated through its educational programs to training researchers and engineers to implement its philosophy of 'Praxis Learning' by way of science and technology. It welcomes applicants who possess not only the necessary level of basic academic skills, but also the wish to master research skills in a field of specialization through serious study and to contribute to society and humankind through the development of natural science and technology.

(2) Organization of the Graduate School of Science and Engineering

The Graduate School of Science and Engineering's Master's Degree Program offers 9 disciplines including 4 under Engineering Science Major (Mathematics, Pure and Applied Physics, Mechanical Engineering, and Electrical, Electronic and Information Engineering), 3 under Environmental and Urban Engineering Major (Architecture, Civil, Environmental and Applied Systems Engineering, and Chemical, Energy and Environmental Engineering), and 2 under Chemistry, Materials and Bioengineering Major (Chemistry and Materials Engineering, and Life Science and Biotechnology) in order to endow graduates with specialized knowledge and technological skills. In addition, the Graduate School's Ph.D. Degree Program consists of the same 9 disciplines under Integrated Science and Engineering Major. The program is designed to endow graduates with exceptional research skills as well as broad knowledge and technological skills that enable them to integrate various research domains.

(3) The Graduate School of Science and Engineering's Educational System and Requirements for Program Completion

Students who have been admitted to one of the discipline of Master's Degree Program by the Special Entrance Examination for Recommended International Students from overseas partner universities will take an educational program known as the International Master Course. This program is characterized that lectures are offered in English and students can earn their degree through research guidance in English. In addition to specialized subjects in each field, available lecture subjects include courses to master knowledge about Japanese history and culture. Concerning research, students take required seminar subjects by their advisors and receive research guidance to help them draft their master's thesis.

Students who have been admitted to Ph.D. Degree Program will study only seminar subjects by their advisors, dedicating rest of their time to activities for the drafting of their doctoral thesis.

In the Graduate School of Science and Engineering, each student drafts his or her master's thesis or doctoral thesis under the guidance of 1 principal advisor and 2 assistant advisors. While students of Master's Degree Program are required to spend their time for attending, preparing for and reviewing the lectures content, in order to take the program's lecture subjects, they spend the rest for activities necessary for the drafting of their master's thesis, such as personal study, experimentation, and discussion, primarily under the guidance of their principal advisor. Students of Ph.D. Degree Program spend most of their time for research to draft their doctoral thesis under the guidance of their principal advisor. Since education and research guidance offered by the principal advisor comprises an extremely dense experience, applicants to the Graduate School of Science and Engineering need to clarify not only a desired discipline, but also a principal advisor.

To complete Master's Degree Program, students must as a rule be enrolled for 2 years (4 semesters), during which time they must earn at least 30 credits of subjects (including 8 credits of seminar subjects) and submit their master's thesis. An additional objective is to increase the quality of research in their master's thesis and present their findings to academic societies or submit them to academic journals during the period of their enrollment.

To earn their degree from Ph.D. Degree Program, students must earn 8 credits of seminar subjects and submit their doctoral thesis. In addition, one of the requirements for submitting their doctoral thesis is to publish it on an academic journal. The standard period of enrollment is 3 years (6 semesters), although that period may be shortened.
